I have been collaborating with Lorenzo since Solar Impulse. I appreciate that he takes initiative and sees projects to the end. He has been supporting and leading many initiatives to facilitate the use of new technologies in the world of aviation.

André Borschberg

CEO, Co-founder & Pilot of Solar Impulse, Co-founder and Executive Chairman of H55

Lorenzo is a global leader and influencer for using technology to enhance the safety, utility, and access for aviation. He is a forward thinker, and can often see and explain a viable path towards the future before it is clear to others, which makes him a great team leader. Lorenzo also has the practical hands-on experience and skill set to lead others, so he actually achieves results rather than just dreaming of what might be possible
